There were four Whitestorms in waca books-two in Thunderclan and two in Windclan

im backkkk

this ones not weird but anyways :

1) Graystripe Was Based on a Real Cat (cat of one writer)

2) Cats in the books don't recognize colors the way humans do, yet they still describe things like silver, golden, and blue-gray fur in detail.

3)woods are actually a bit scary:

cats describe this in woods:

old bones

rotting prey

abandoned Twoleg traps

4) Some fans noticed that the Clans have massive accidental inbreeding because their population is small and the family trees overlap heavily.

5) The original forest setting was inspired by British woodland landscapes.

6) Clan cats don't know what money is, but they understand politics, religion, medicine, and military strategy.

7) The river near RiverClan sometimes flows in different directions depending on the book.

In some maps it flows north to south.

In others it seems to flow east to west.

8) Some characters age too fast or too slow.

For example:

A cat might be described as an apprentice in one book.

But a few books later they should be much older, yet they're still young.

9) Some background characters were accidentally written as alive after they already died earlier in the story.

For example:

a cat appears in a patrol

but the previous book already said they were dead

10) Mistystar became a meme among fans.

Why?

She lived through multiple arcs of the series.

Many younger characters died while she stayed alive.

Fans joked the authors forgot she should have died from old age.

She ended up becoming one of the oldest cats in the entire timeline.

11) There is also a warrior named Heavystep, who became a fandom meme because he accidentally died multiple times in the books due to editing mistakes.

12)Runningwind had one of the most random deaths.

He was walking through camp.

A tree suddenly fell on him during a storm.

He died instantly.

No battle. No villain. Just bad luck with a tree.

13) Foxleap had a frustrating death.

He slipped while chasing prey.

Fell badly.

Died from the injury.

After surviving many battles, he dies from a hunting accident.

14) Some modern Clan cats are related to Firestar on multiple sides of the family tree.

15) Before the four main Clans (ThunderClan, RiverClan, ShadowClan, WindClan) formed, there was a fifth Clan mentioned in the earliest drafts called "StoneClan." They were removed from canon, but early maps and notes by the authors reference them.

16) In early concept drafts, the Clans' territories were shaped not just by prey and rivers but by fox territories. The rivalry between foxes and cats was considered to be a major plot element that never fully made it into the main series.
